

The Salcombe Yawl

2nd e-news letter Jun 2011

An early start at the Plymouth port

How many wining boats can I get on

Scud gets some professional help

The Salcombe Yawl Late May Open was another blowy one, one or two casualties, A broken mast and David Janes boat being another, David I hope you get it sorted soon.

Do we expect too much from them?

The End of May Open prize giving was well controlled by Jane and the new Commodore of The Salcombe Yacht club Malcolm Squire, congratulations Malcolm and good luck.

The Golfe du Morbihan trip organised by Penny Reed was a great success, very challenging sailing, good food and wine. There were nine Yawls and about thirty people. The organisation was as competitive as the racing which made for an interesting time.

Well Clive & Jackie what can say, you look very comfortable. The rest of us sat on the wall!! The whole event was quite spectacular. I have never seen so many boats, if it floated it was there.

The budding photographers in the group will post pictures on Flickr (www.syoaflicker.com) page and Facebook. So keep looking.

Oysters on the beach in the most glorious weather, we should do the Yawl picnic again? (can someone organise please)

Well the next event is The Salcombe Regatta, Have you signed up (www.entryform.co.uk) they need the numbers to allocate the fleets, AGM is on Tuesday the 9th August.
